

Coalition moving forward in Wabash Valley

Special to the Tribune-Star

TERRE HAUTE January 14, 2009 10:28 pm

— A brown-bag lunch meeting is 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday in Ivy Tech Community College for individuals and organizations interested in working to make sure youth in Parke, Putnam, Sullivan, Vermillion and Vigo counties get their hands on cash for college.

Members of Indiana's College Success Coalition, led by Learn More Indiana, will be there. The coalition is a growing alliance of state and local organizations and individuals working to make sure Hoosiers know how to go to and through college.

The meeting will focus on ways to ensure students and families apply for financial aid before the March 10 deadline — including two important upcoming events — College Goal Sunday and FAFSA Friday.

In addition, attendees will begin planning College GO! activities for fall 2009. Add your expertise and ideas to local efforts to ensure more students take the steps necessary to get to college and succeed.

Bring your lunch.

Visit www.learnmoreindiana.org/coalition for more information.

Copyright © 1999-2008 cnhi, inc.